♪♪ ..We All Need Help to Feel Fine ..♪♪

President Andy Heideman announced that we are getting short on wine for our weekly drawings. He also said last Friday was the deadline for this month's haiku contest. As of last meeting we had a submission from Joyce, one from Jill, and an example from Michael.

Jill's was:
 Maine sunk, war ensues
 Teddy and the Rough Riders.
 Cuba, Phillipines.

Order out of Chaos

In our 1st monthly science minute, Secretary Michael Pease showed how 32 little metronomes swinging randomly back and forth gradually fall into synchronized motion because their vibrations are communicated through the base they sit on. He claimed similar communication between basic particles causes order to emerge from chaos in the universe, for life to evolve in increasing complexity.

Outsmarting Investment Fraud

Terri Alexon is the Investment Education Coordinator for the Arizona Corporation Commission, where she's worked for 14 years. She gets the word out on preventing investment fraud and on wise investing. She said Arizona is a prime target for such fraud because we have a higher percentage of older citizens who, as perceived by the con artists, have assets to invest. Alexon added that we also tend to be a little less critical in our thinking, sometimes even cognitive impairment. The ACC Securities Division is the "cop on the beat" for the securities and investment advisory industry in Arizona.

Her talk aimed to make 4 points: What the Securities Division can and cannot do for investors; what counts as a security; what red flags for fraud one should watch out for; "who you gonna call?" when one has a question.

They get the word out with presentations like hers, with a website ( www.azinvestor.gov ) that provides free resources, and an investigator available M-F, 8-5 by phone or email. They review complaints from investors who think they are victims of fraud. They register securities being offered and regulate salesmen and investment advisors. They take action against violators and promote legitimate capital.

On the other hand, they cannot recommend investments or guarantee one is safe; they cannot promise restitution for loss; and they cannot provide legal representation.

Alexon advises avoiding companies that lack a verifiable business history, verifying that the sales person is registered, being skeptical of "too good to be true" projections, and very leery of time pressure. Take your time and check.
