Unbelievable

Club Secretary Michael Pease, who has had a chance at the joker pot at least twice in this deck, drew the joker for a pot of $1586. That's not the issue. He prefaced it with an "ask a simple question you get a pageant" commentary about how after one of his students years ago, a graduate of San Francisco's college for psychics, had taken his philosophy course, he took hers. He added that the college said Hitler was a visiting demon who had to be dragged bodily off the planet by the psychic cops. After that preliminary BS he reached out, pulled the joker, and almost without looking at it passed it back to Jack Carter. Ask him and he'll explain about taking your focus off the "prayer" prevents ripples in the quantum probability wave blurring the results.

Interact President

Sophia Lyon, president of the Interact Club we support at SHS (thanks to Katie Carter), told us their club has grown by 80% this last year. She has applied to go to Washington DC to the inauguration of our next president in January. Her application has been approved, but she needs $7000, over $500 by September 30. Check out Valle Verde's website.

Amado Youth Center

Amy Bass is Director of Prevention at Pasadera Behavioral Health Network, and she oversees all of the projects at the Amado Youth Center as well as other projects in Pima County.

She told us Pasadera is closing its doors, that Community Bridges is taking over both their services and their staff, with an emphasis more on treatment than prevention. She mentioned PPEP, Portable Practical Educational Preparation, which is a county-wide program.

She said they try to mitigate the risk factors for kids. They always need craft and school supplies and clothing. Her video made it clear they operate down in the heart of the poorer areas of Amado, and they work with Sopori school.

She described the challenge of drug use prevention, where kids are turning 3% THC into 90%THC. She said they need brooms and garden equipment. And their classes, which teach opportunities, self-esteem and consequences, can use ice cream for rewards.
